

SOVEREIGNTY SANTA CRUZ

Increasing evidence is being uncovered throughout the so-called developed world that a system or systems of Administrative, Commercial or Admiralty law has been superimposed over our traditional Common-Law jurisdiction which was based on the recognition of human beings' unalienable rights to life, liberty and property. Under Common Law, and as expressed in the united states' Declaration of Independence, and the u.s. and Canadian Bills of Rights, no living being has control over, or the right to violate in any way, another living being. By the same right, no group of people can have or delegate power over any other single individual or group of human beings. No man or woman can be governed by society without his or her consent.

Starting sometime after the middle of the 1800's, an apparently concerted program of obscuring the truth of the unalienable sovereignty of natural humans, and of entangling us in a baffling web of statutes, regulations and circumstances seems to have created a progressively deeper trance-like impression that we're subordinate to an organized authority that looks more and more like a new Feudal Nobility who control society and the world by some kind of in-born right and superiority.

Now, however, an awakening to this growing illusion seems to have begun. People all over the world are working to understand the truth of the web of words and authority that is being spun over us. Sovereignty Santa Cruz is an informal group of people interested in studying, understanding, and applying knowledge of how we've been subjugated to this artificial legal system and of the remedies that can free us from it. We intend to meet together as needed, and in particular, to use communication facilitated by the Internet to educate ourselves and to support each other in stepping free of the constraints of our fears and self-imposed limitations.

To these ends, we have started a web-site at

<http://befreedom.org>

where we have a forum for educational resources and discussion, and for organizing action and support. Please join us and participate in this process of awakening and self-empowerment.

SOVEREIGNTY SANTA CRUZ

Increasing evidence is being uncovered throughout the so-called developed world that a system or systems of Administrative, Commercial or Admiralty law has been superimposed over our traditional Common-Law jurisdiction which was based on the recognition of human beings' unalienable rights to life, liberty and property. Under Common Law, and as expressed in the united states' Declaration of Independence, and the u.s. and Canadian Bills of Rights, no living being has control over, or the right to violate in any way, another living being. By the same right, no group of people can have or delegate power over any other single individual or group of human beings. No man or woman can be governed by society without his or her consent.

Starting sometime after the middle of the 1800's, an apparently concerted program of obscuring the truth of the unalienable sovereignty of natural humans, and of entangling us in a baffling web of statutes, regulations and circumstances seems to have created a progressively deeper trance-like impression that we're subordinate to an organized authority that looks more and more like a new Feudal Nobility who control society and the world by some kind of in-born right and superiority.

Now, however, an awakening to this growing illusion seems to have begun. People all over the world are working to understand the truth of the web of words and authority that is being spun over us. Sovereignty Santa Cruz is an informal group of people interested in studying, understanding, and applying knowledge of how we've been subjugated to this artificial legal system and of the remedies that can free us from it. We intend to meet together as needed, and in particular, to use communication facilitated by the Internet to educate ourselves and to support each other in stepping free of the constraints of our fears and self-imposed limitations.

To these ends, we have started a web-site at

<http://befreedom.org>

where we have a forum for educational resources and discussion, and for organizing action and support. Please join us and participate in this process of awakening and self-empowerment.